SUNDAY'S GAZETTE.

In addition to the usual reports of foreign, domestic and local happenings to-morrow's GAZETTE will contain several special articles on topics of the hour rendering the paper especially interesting. To accommodate the extra reading matter a supplement will be printed.

Yan Phou Lee, a Chinese graduate of Yale, writes on "The Chinese in America." He criticizes Senator Mitchell's bill and makes a strong showing for the other side of the Chinese question.

Cleveland Moffatt reports an interview with the Elder Coquelin, the great French actor, who is soon to begin a tour in the new world. The representative of histrionic art in France throws some light on the questions at issue between himself and Henry Irving.

Olive Logan tells what it costs to live in London, "where one can buy more for a penny and less for a guinea than in any other place on earth." Her hints to Americans would be invaluable to visitors in the great metropolis.

Mrs. John Sherwood's article on "The Art of Entertaining," though addressed to young housekeepers, will be found to contain some hints which will be useful to older ones.

"Republican France and Republican America" is the title of a letter by Baroness Blaze de Bury. She was at one time Paris correspondent of the New York Tribune and the Nation, and her comments cannot fail to interest. She is said to be one of the closest students in France of European and American politics.

There will also be a local article on the last Indian raid in this county, which occurred in 1872, and an account of the adventures of the company which was equipped and sent from this city on that occasion.

The attacks on Phil Sheridan are quite encouraging to those who favor his candidacy. If he was not so strong a candidate there would not be so close an inspection of his record. It's a good thing to have this close inspection of the record of the candidates now, rather than after the nomination. It greatly lessens the danger of the nomination of a new man.

The suggestion made yesterday in regard to establishing some uniform conditions regarding the width and direction of streets in additions to the city, has met with very favorable comment. Up to a recent date there have been so few additions that there did not seem to be a demand for any such conditions, but it is obvious to all now that they are needed. The founders of the city were very liberal in laying it out, so that it should be a beautiful place with plenty of fresh air. If the city continues to grow as it should, these wide streets will be the envy of the world's cities. Why not have a system by which the owners of property in additions to the city may have the benefit of such suggestions as may be made by competent persons. There will be no objection to offer some suggestions which members of the council would consider of value. If no one shall be elected to the council who will not favor such a system, the people will be to blame.

The Denver World has the following compliment to Senator Sherman as a candidate:

Senator Sherman is now in New York on his way to Washington after a visit to Cincinnati. He is looking well, and is not worrying himself about politics. He is not the candidate of any political organization, but he is the candidate of the people, and he is not worrying himself about the matter. He is not a candidate for the nomination, but he is the candidate of the people, and he is not worrying himself about the matter. He is not a candidate for the nomination, but he is the candidate of the people, and he is not worrying himself about the matter.

Mr. Blaine says that the chances of success in 1888 are better than the chances were in 1884, as early visits to the battle-ground which the Republicans have chosen will show. The Republicans of Ohio, Indiana, New York, Connecticut and New Jersey will be in a position to carry their States in 1888 as they were in 1884, and the Republicans of the West will be in a position to carry their States in 1888 as they were in 1884. The Republicans of the West will be in a position to carry their States in 1888 as they were in 1884. The Republicans of the West will be in a position to carry their States in 1888 as they were in 1884.

STATE NEWS.

Aspen raises more wheat per acre than any other county in the State.

A one-eighth interest in the Bay State mine at Aspen was sold for $30,000 cash.

The Colorado Coal and Iron company will soon build extensive coke ovens at the new town of Carbondale.

Judge Hallett on Thursday denied the application for a receiver in the celebrated Bonny Bell mine at Aspen.

The farmers in the neighborhood of Saguache are anxious for the county to sink an artesian well near that place.

Deputy Sheriff Thompson, of Las Animas, was killed by a horse thief whom he was attempting to arrest on Thursday.

The board of supervisors of Denver have indefinitely postponed the consideration of the cable railroad project.

Californians at Las Animas are indignant over the removal of the United States signal observatory from that place to Pueblo.

General R. A. Darrow and Mr. W. H. Patton have begun the publication of a monthly journal at Canon City to be known as "Health and Horticulture." The first number was issued Thursday.

Chance in Making Change.

An acquaintance of mine, who is a hotel clerk at a place where business often takes me, and who, I suspect, does beyond his lawful means, grew confidential one day and informed me that a certain rich guest, whom he called a "miser," because the man objected to being robbed, was making a fuss about not having received his proper change.

"And did you give him his right change?" I was innocent enough to ask.

"Of course not," said the clerk. "I could not live if it was not for my changes in making change. If he wanted any correction he should have kicked when I gave him it mine." After he left the clerk it was too late."—New York Cor. Providence Journal.
